

Finishing Up

By now, most of the software you will need will have been copied to your hard drive. Your user account will be set up and your regional settings are all ready for you. It's time to restart the machine. Make sure the USB stick or CD is removed from the drive when prompted and continue onwards!

Choosing the startup option.

When you start your PC, you'll see something like the above screen. You can choose whether you want to start up Windows or Linux (Ubuntu). Select the system you want using the arrow keys.
